

SDK and Mac OS X software notes

The SDK (software developer's kit) for the G series cameras is for experienced users only. Changes to the camera's programming may cause the camera to not function correctly. End-user assumes all risk using the SDK. Orion does not provide support for the use or contents of the kit. Orion is not responsible for any damage related to use of the SDK.

Technical support for the Macintosh StarShoot IC is by email only. To open a ticket, send an email to support@telescope.com. Please specify which version of OS X you are using and if the problem occurs in download, install or use. Any error messages you are seeing would also be helpful.
